FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK:

*Hello Israelite Remnant People-
May the blessing of our Lord Jesus Christ be upon YOU!!*

First, I want to say thank you out of the fullness of Martha's and my heart for the financial help we receive from those of you who care about the propagation and good work of the Kingdom Israel Truth. It is hard at times, but you remnant stalwart Christian soldiers help get us through what are sometimes difficult situations. We have no other means of support other than what you wonderful caring Covenant people sacrificially give, and we so appreciate you! We pray the blessings of our blessed King Jesus upon all of you.

I also beseech the Church of Israel at large to continue praying for the Bible-belt areas of America's mid-section that are still greatly suffering from massive flood, tornado occurrences, and damage. So, who or what do we blame for this? Global-warming? some asteroid passing overhead? out of control chemtrails? evolution gone berserk? NONE OF THESE!

As Bible believing people, we believe the Scriptures. We believe that they declare the Truth and we are to bring our minds in order with that Biblical Truth. This means that we turn to the authority of the Scriptures and pray for spiritual understanding concerning the events that have transpired.

We place our faith, hope, and trust in the Sovereign Creator and Providential God of ALL THINGS, the Lord Jesus Christ. He is the Supreme Overseer of His Covenant Word and Promises unto the seed/offspring of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

One thing Christians so often overlook are the commandments and racial responsibilities God has directed unto His Covenant Israel people throughout every page of the Bible. That they are to “love the Lord thy God with all their heart and understanding,” and not involve themselves in paganism, idolatry, or adultery/race-mixing. This certainly includes NOT mixing the Christian faith with Talmudism or Judaism. Judeo-Christianity is an oxymoron. It blends the good faith (Christianity) with evil (antichrist Judaism). The Word of God warn His called out and chosen Covenant White Adamic people not to be unequally yoked together, and not to mixed themselves with evil.

Truly, we are all scattered throughout America, Canada, England, Europe, Australia, South Africa, and yes, to a degree, even Russia and various other lands. The real shame is that in many ways, we (the Anglo Saxon, Celtic, Dutch, Scandinavian, Germanic, and kindred people) are under the communist Jewish control that the late Col. John Beaty wrote about in his book Iron Curtain Over America. His book includes a section on how the Khazars joined and took over the Democrat Party. Well, we can certainly see the sad reality of this today, but they have also taken control of the Republican party.

During this time, he also served as head of the English Department from 1927 until 1940. Beaty, a native of Crow, West Virginia, received his B.A. and M.A. from the University of Virginia, and later completed his Ph.D. in philosophy at Columbia University in 1921. Professor Beaty also spent a semester studying in France at the University of Montpellier.

Dr. Robert Hyer, first president of Southern Methodist University, appointed Beaty to the English Department in 1918. Beaty taught courses in sophomore English, as well as in Old English and the history of the English language. He served in active duty during World War II in the Military Intelligence Service, and rose to the rank of Lieutenant Colonel in the U.S. Army. He remained in the army reserves for a total of thirty-one years.

Dr. Beaty published fourteen books, including Race and Population (1928), Swords in the Dawn (1937), Image of Life (1940), The Iron Curtain over America (1951), and Crossroads. Dr. Beaty also served as a co-editor of Facts and Ideas, and Famous Editions of English Poets, as well as working with the Modern Language Association of America and the Dictionary of American Biography. His writing was not confined to his own areas of academic interest, as he also wrote various newspaper articles on foreign affairs. Dr. Beaty was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, and other honors include membership in the Modern Language Association, Texas Institute of Letters, the American Legion, and serving as president of the Conference of College Teachers of English.

Claims made in his 1951 work The Iron Curtain over America, as well as a pamphlet published shortly thereafter, How to Capture a University, triggered much controversy within SMU during the early 1950s. Dr. Beaty was charged with being anti-Semitic... The Iron Curtain over America attracted a great deal of attention and apparently was widely read, going through eight reprintings in 1952 alone. The context of the times when these two works appeared is especially important: the fear of communist expansion worldwide in the years after World War II, the fall of China to communist forces in 1949, and domestic efforts—both on the part of the Truman administration and by Congress (including by Senator Joseph McCarthy) to expose communist infiltration—gave Beaty’s work a very receptive audience. The Iron Curtain over America charged that communism could be characterized as a Jewish conspiracy, and that world communism was rapidly gaining ground everywhere, with little or no response from the Democratic Truman administration. His later pamphlet argued that Southern Methodist University, while responsible for teaching Christianity and promoting Christian values, was nevertheless being infiltrated by communist and un-Christian influences.

Such claims garnered support, certainly, but also charges of anti-Semitism and shoddy research, and SMU responded by setting up a committee—comprised of members of the SMU board of trustees and several Methodist bishops—to investigate Dr. Beaty’s claims...

Dr. Beaty continued to serve in the English department until his 1957 retirement. He later moved to Virginia, and died in September 1961.”

Col. Beaty underwent tremendous attacks from the “Establishment,” and “Jewish controlled press” during his life as a scholar and military officer. Under today’s empowered Jewish political, religious, educational, monetary, media, and entertainment control, Col. Beaty would be portrayed as a modern-day Hitler and mercilessly and incessantly attacked. Pastor John Hagee, self-appointed Judeo-Christian replacement of Jerry Falwell as defender of Talmudic Zionism would be leading the attack against Col. Beatty at every opportunity to do so.

Folks, we better stand strong with those few leaders who are espousing Biblical Kingdom truth and pray for a spiritual awakening of our children and grandchildren to the racial and Biblical truth of our Covenant Israelite Heritage. We are today's remnant end-time descendants of the seed of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob who are standing on the solid ROCK foundation of our blessed King Jesus our Redeemer.

Ecclesiastes 12:13

Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: Fear God, and keep his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man.

Our children may now be blinded in their vision and understanding, but we pray for an "anointing eye-salve" that will awaken their eyes and understanding to Kingdom Truth that will set them free from the deception that has darkened their way to the "straight and narrow path."

After this short introduction, I will begin quoting from page 169 of this well documented book, Iron Curtain Over America. I will quote from different sections over several pages. The message presented that we should understand is: The purpose of war (by Zionist Globalists); the part being played by Democrat Socialists (especially in America's immigration policies); the war in the Middle-East. Also, please note that this book was written over 60 years ago.

“... Let it be emphasized again that wars bring controls and that some people in high places are so fond of controls that a war may appear a desirable means for establishing them.

... Here is where the grisly facts of Eastern European immigration enter the electoral vote picture. As shown in Chapter III, the great majority of these immigrants join the Democratic Party. They also have a marked tendency to settle in populous doubtful states – states in which a handful of individual votes may swing a large block of electoral votes. Moreover, the number of immigrants, Eastern European and other, is colossal (Chapter II).

... Let us now examine the significance of the fact that almost all recent Eastern European immigrants have joined the Democratic Party. Let us suppose that our present annual crop of immigrants adds each year a mere third of a million votes to the Democratic Party – in gratitude for connivance at their admittance, if for no other reason – and let us suppose also that in a ‘limited’ war, or because of ‘occupation’ duties far from home, a half million Americans of native stock (Editor’s note: by this term “native stock,” Col. Beaty means White Americans) each year are either killed or prevented from becoming fathers because of absence from their wives or from homes they would have established if they were not at war.

The suggested figures of 300,000 and 500,000 are merely estimates, but they are extremely conservative. They are based not on a possible global war but on our present world ventures only... It is thus seen that a combination of war deaths and fewer births among the native stock (again he is referring to the Anglo population) along with the immigration of leftist aliens might appear to some manipulators of the national Democratic Party as a highly desired way to a surer grip on power. To such people, the boon of being a wheel in an ever-rolling Socialist machine might be worth more than the lives of soldiers...

Those Judaized Khazars arriving in the United States (Editor’s note: whom he earlier referred to as Eastern European immigrants) lost no time in forming an ‘Association of Jewish Refugees and Immigrations from Poland' which at once began to exert active political pressure. Many refugees were well-heeled with funds, portable commodities, or spoils from the lands of their origin. For instance, an article by the Scripps-Howard Special Writer, Henry J. Taylor, and an editorial in the Washington Daily News (July 18, 1945) told of a clean-up by aliens, 'most of whom live in New York,' of $800,000,000 in profit on the New York Stock Exchange in Spring of 1945, 'to say nothing of real estate investments, commodity speculations, and private side deals,' with no capital gains tax because of their favored status as aliens... In 1951, for instance, patriotic U.S. Customs Service officials detected several hundred thousands of dollars' worth of diamonds in the hollow shoes heels and in the hollow luggage frames of a group of 'refugees' (Editor's note: and we can be assured there were many more valuables snuck through that were undetected)... In one way or another the average arriving refugee is in a matter of months or in a few years at most, far better off economically than millions of native Americans (us) whose relative status is lowered by the new aliens above them – aliens for whom in many instances native Americans (White America) perform menial work.

...Senator McCarran...reported to the Senate in a speech 'Wanted: A Sound Immigration Policy for the United States' (February 28, 1950):

'...I have stated and I repeat, that under the administration of the present act persons seeking the status of displaced persons have resorted to fraud, misrepresentation, fictitious documents, and perjury in order to qualify for immigration into the United States...'

... Senator McCarran quoted a letter (September 9, 1949) from Sam E. Woods, American Consul General of Munich, to the Secretary of State which tells that the alleged payments of '50 marks through the wife of the president of the Jewish committee of the town' (Schwandorf, Bavaria), led to an investigation which showed 'that a number of displaced persons, who had already departed for the United States, had previously caused their police records in Schwandorf to be changed.'

...Further light on refugees, Jewish and other, in the period following VE Day is furnished by Major Harold Zink, a former Consultant on U.S. Policy on Germany, in his book American Military Government in Germany (Macmillan, 1947). After stating that 'displaced persons gave military government more trouble than any other problem' and mentioning the agitation to the end that 'the best German houses be cleared of their occupants and placed at the disposal of the displaced persons, especially the Jews,' Professor Zink continues: 'Moreover, the displaced persons continued their underground war with the German lives lost, and German women raped almost every day by the displaced persons, widespread resentment developed among the populace, especially when they could not defend themselves against the fire-arms which the displaced persons managed to obtain.'

...An understanding of Zionism as a 'super-patriotic' force-with a focus of interest outside of and alien to America – can be had from an editorial signed by Father Ralph Gorman, C.P., in The Sign (November, 1951):

'Zionism is not, at present at least, a humanitarian movement designed to help unfortunate Jewish refugees. It is a political and military organization, based squarely on race, religion, and nation, using brute force against an innocent people as the instrument for the execution of its policies...The Israelis have already carved a state out of Arab land and have driven 750,000 Arabs out of their homes into exile. Now they look with covetous eyes on the rest of Palestine and even the territory across the

Jordan... The Arabs are not fools. They realize what is being prepared for them – with American approval and money. They know that the sword is aimed at them and that, unless Zionist plans are frustrated, they will be driven back step by step into the desert – their lands, homes, vineyards, and farms taken over by an alien people brought from the ends of the earth for this purpose... (Father Gorman continues by quoting from the Jewish Newsletter, on the World Zionist Congress held in Jerusalem) “Moreover, can anyone believe that continued subservience to ‘Israeli’ aims is other than an invitation to war in the Middle-East – a war which we would probably lose?”

I will add, yes, you Jews, if left to your own means, without the military might of the United States of America and our racial blood, probably would lose a Middle-East war with the Arabs nations. But corrupt, and alien Congressmen have treasonously entered our nation into covenants of hell with the Jews, obligating America to fight Zionist created wars for more land and secret deals of wealth that are mostly unknown to the American people and the Federal Reserve bank and IMF are covertly involved.

Col. Beaty’s book Iron Curtain Over America is full of vital historical reasons Christian Israel needs to understand. Isn’t it startling that as far back as 60 to 80 years ago, the same conditions and circumstances concerning the Israeli Zionists that plagued America and other White European lands is still a proverbial “thorn in our side?” We can see that the Democrat Party, and now, the Republican Party are still being used to flood America, and yes, Canada, England, Europe, Australia, New Zealand, and Russia with people who are not of Caucasian descent as a form of invasion, and they intend to take over and make captive the White Adamic Israel people.

Here is another quote that 45 years ago I believed was ludicrous and outrageous, but now I am convinced of its truth. It is from the book Pawns in the Game, written in 1958 by William Guy Carr, R.D. Commander R.C.N. Commander Carr had a distinguished naval career. During WWI he served as Navigating Officer of H.M. Submarines. In WWII he was Naval Control Officer for the St. Lawrence, and then Senior Naval Officer at Goose Bay Labrador. William Carr said this on page XV of his book Pawns in the Game:

“World War Two, was to be fomented by using the differences between Fascists and Political Zionists. This war was to be fought so that Nazism would be destroyed, and the power of Political Zionism increased so that the sovereign state of Israel could be established in Palestine. During World War Two International Communism was to be built up until it equaled in strength that of united Christendom. At this point it was to be contained and kept in check until required for the final social cataclysm. Can any informed person deny Roosevelt and Churchill did put this policy into effect?

World War Three is to be fomented by using the differences the Agentur of the Illuminati stir up between Political Zionists and the leaders of the Moslem world. The war is to be directed in such a manner that Islam (the Arab World including Mohammedanism) and Political Zionism (including the State of Israel) will destroy themselves while at the same time the remaining nations, once more divided against each other on this issue, will be forced to fight themselves into a state of complete exhaustion physically, mentally, spiritually and economically. Can any unbiased and reasoning person deny that the intrigue now going on in the Near, Middle, and Far East is designed to accomplish this devilish purpose?”

Again, dear Christian brethren, scores of years ago I would not have fathomed such a scenario. I was a dazed and confused Judeo-Christian and I thought Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir was a saint. Through years of study and coming to a blessed understanding of the true identity of the Anglo-Israel people, which opened the door where I could see vast layers of political corruption, especially by the Hidden Hand of Zionism, I was able to break free from much of the mind control of the powers of darkness. Praise God, the blessed Light of Biblical Truth keeps marching forward as the faith of Abraham continues to grow in our hearts, which is the blessed Gospel of the Kingdom through the Lord Jesus Christ. You see, with spiritual eye salve, we can see the works of the enemies of Christ and what they have plotted against the seed of the true Abrahamic Covenant people. We can see that there is a spiritual solution given in the Word of God that the masses cannot see or perceive.

First, we have to look back not only to what the Zionists have done, but what the Promises of God declare unto the seed Heirs of the Promise.

Isaiah 51:1-2

¹ Hearken to me, ye that follow after righteousness, ye that seek the LORD: look unto the rock whence ye are hewn, and to the hole of the pit whence ye are digged.

² Look unto Abraham your father, and unto Sarah that bare you: for I called him alone, and blessed him, and increased him.

What are the Scriptures asking us to do dear kinsmen? They are asking us to LOOK UNTO THE ABRAHAMIC COVENANT and discover what our true Biblical Identity is, that we, the Adamic Isaac-sons have a special calling and purpose. The Apostle Paul says in Romans 9:4-5.

4 Who are Israelites; to whom pertaineth the adoption, and the glory, and the covenants, and the giving of the law, and the service of God, and the promises;

5 Whose are the fathers, and of whom as concerning the flesh Christ came, who is over all, God blessed for ever. Amen.

Please notice that the Apostle Paul directs the spiritual Kingdom responsibilities of “adoption” (meaning becoming spiritually equipped and maturing in Christ), the glory (declaring YHWH’s Sovereignty and Purposes), and the covenants (all the Covenants of God unto Israel throughout the Scriptures, which includes the Biblical fact according to Amos 3:2 that of all the people in existence, God only chose Israel to be His Covenant recipients), the giving of the law (that God only gave His Divine Laws unto His Covenant Israelite people, and He would punish or bless them according to His commandments), and the service of God, and His promises, (service of God and His promises, all these spiritual duties and callings encompass all the “works of Christianity.”)

Yet all these spiritual callings are not upon the world or for some hybrid spiritual Israel replacement ideology. The Apostle Paul says at the beginning of verse 4, “ISRAELITES, TO WHOM PERTAINETH” all these spiritual duties are part of their Kingdom Work. What the Zionists have done and conspired to accomplish with their Globalistic World Views, shall NOT succeed. King Jesus is coming, yea, in many ways has already come by the mystery power of His Holy Spirit, and is working in a Remnant of persevering, overcoming Israel saints who are doing foundational work for the Kingdom of God.

Going back to Isaiah 51:3-4, we read:

Well, this is mainly unfulfilled prophecy. Yes, America was a vast wilderness, but once again, God's Israel people failed to obey, and God's "judgments" have not rested. Our vision and great HOPE is not in the works of man to usher in the Kingdom of God, but in the work of the Holy Spirit upon New Covenant Israel (Hebrews 8:8-10) and our coming into a blessed day when our vile bodies are changed and made like Him.

Philippians 3:21

Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself.

Christ being formed in His people towards the exaltation of His Kingdom of Light is our objective. For the most part, ignorant blind Israelites have failed to recognize their true Biblical Covenant calling and purposes because they have been led astray and are actually taught to exalt the antichrist Jews with blessings and believe they are honoring Christ in doing so. King Jesus will NEVER be mocked by such blasphemy. God's people will never enter into the Kingdom with any degree of real Christian Light and Truth until they especially repent and turn from the blasphemy of Judeo-Christianity. I urge you dear Covenant brethren of Israelite understanding, that if you are attending a Judeo-Christian church, no matter how loving, sweet, and holy they may appear, to come out of her now, and be not partakers of her sins. I pray God Almighty will turn your hearts away from Talmudic-Christianity, and give you courage to say NO to Judaism-Christianity which is a major part of the Iron Curtain Over America.

P.S. – Yes, I am deeply concerned about President Trump’s strong link with Judaic-Christianity. We all need to keep him in our prayers, but never support any treaties or international policies America makes with the cause of Israeli Zionism.

THE HARVEST

Jesus told His Disciples in the parable I am going to call “The Tares,” in Matthew 13:25-30.

25 But while men slept (Israel is certainly spiritually blind and asleep and full of false traditions), his enemy (not some Judeo-Christian devil, but the Edomites, Amalekites, Khazars, Ashkenazis, Hittites, Perizzites, Gergazites and other alien creeds of the many antichrists) came and sowed tares among the wheat (Adamic-Israelites), and went his way.

26 But when the blade was sprung up, and brought forth fruit, then appeared the tares also.

27 So the servants of the householder came and said unto him, Sir, didst not thou sow good seed in thy field? from whence then hath it tares?

28 He said unto them, An enemy hath done this. The servants said unto him, Wilt thou then that we go and gather them up?

29 But he said, Nay; lest while ye gather up the tares, ye root up also the wheat with them.

30 Let both grow together until the harvest: and in the time of harvest I will say to the reapers, Gather ye together first the tares, and bind them in bundles to burn them: but gather the wheat into my barn.

The “tares” are still among the “wheat” sad to say. We are all greatly troubled and bothered by this reality. And we yearn for the “harvest” time when the tares will be removed. If the remnant few went out and tried to “harvest” the tares on our own, we would not only be out of Divine timing, but we would be – may I say, raptured away by the wicked. The Edomites hunters would do their best to eradicate every one of us with glee. We all need Divine wisdom and patience by the power of the Holy Spirit.

Will imperfect Adamic man someday be able to perfect his ways to the degree that he can turn over the Kingdom for King Jesus to receive? Not if the tares are still here to weave their web of evil. I do not believe God has just left man on some endless time cycle to get his spiritual act together to the point that “Adam-man” comes into some “Kingdom state of perfection.” A time of “harvest” must come that marks the “end of tare infestation.”

I do believe we are in the “Kingdom Now,” but it is a Kingdom work that will not be complete until the KING (Jesus) of kings (we are the little kings) returns, and I will add, “in fullness of Glory.” Remember He told us to “occupy until He comes.” So, we are to be about our Father’s Work and not just waiting for His Return.

While the Judeo-Christian world is not pursuing the vital things of the Kingdom of God including the true identity of Israel, a remnant of Christianity (though not perfect) are seeking the Kingdom of God and His Righteousness. A number of us are doing our best to “occupy” by pursuing righteous choices and goals. It is often very difficult, because there are so many obstacles the tares have sowed in our path.

Some have said, "We are standing on the shoulders of those who came before us," but while this sounds true, it is a falsity. Every generation that has been born into this world is not blessed with knowing and understanding the vital lessons of life former generations had to learn through the school of "hard knocks." We, all from the time we are born, have to ride the "sin merry-go-round." We do our baby years, the rough teenage years with all its jealousy, fights, infatuation, rebelliousness, and so forth. Let me say again, we are not born with the wisdom of previous generations. We are a blank slate when we are born and have to learn everything.

As adults, a small number of us (on key Biblical issues) have had to unlearn many things we thought were right. Each generation from the time of Adam has had to undergo this maturing process and work to overcome our many fleshly obstacles. If anything, the last six-thousand years, whether under the Old Covenant, or the New Covenant, shows us that we are unable to bring in the perfected Kingdom of God this side of the "harvest."

Even in the days of Jesus and His Disciples performing miracles, man's flesh still got in the way. Our flesh is a big obstacle. I say this, because some have suggested that if we could only have a high degree of miracles as in the time of Christ and Acts of the Disciples, some degree of spiritual perfection could be achieved, and the Kingdom of God would be ushered in with Light and Truth. Stop and think about it. Isn't this what they had approximately two-thousand years ago with amazing miracles by Christ and His Disciples, and yet, there were divisions, fightings, church disputes, sin, antichristism and more? The common great obstacle has, and will continue to be the “the fleshly ways” of man, and the ongoing tyranny of the tares.

Evidently, it is in Christ’s Will, Plan, and Purpose for the tares to be doing their works of evil, sowing works of corruption for trying and testing His Covenant people. Jesus upon answering His Disciples concerning whether or not they should go storming out and start “gathering tares,” said, “let both (the wheat and the tares) grow to together until the harvest.”

God has a Divine Purpose in having the “tares” grow up together with the wheat people (Covenant Israel). We are not called to remove the tares; we are called to separate from them, and at harvest time, King Jesus will send forth “reapers” to gather the tares for a good old Obadiah bonfire. Whether this fire is literal or figurative of some purging process is not the object of our study at this time.

But let us not miss the point in this parable that the wheat and the tares are part of God’s Divine Plan, and the tares are certainly being true to their nature and character, aren’t they? Would to God the “wheat” would be true to the nature of Christ and live and behave according to the fruits of the Spirit.

Who are the “reapers” in this parable? Well, we really don’t know for sure, some say they are the “overcomers,” a Daniel or Gideon type of “saints of God.” Others say the reapers are God’s angels, and, of course, there are various other speculations. Whoever they are, we can be assured that “harvest” will reveal who the true “reapers” are. The “harvest” is a supernatural event of God. I will stress again the point that the tares are still with us today, showing us that the harvest is a future event.

Most of you have heard the song called “God is Watching Us From a Distance” by Jewish singer Bette Midler. This song is making the claim that God put everything in motion and left man to do his part without God’s help. This is not true. God is in His people and after the harvest will change us and make us like Him, so that we can rule and reign with Him in truth. We are nothing without Him and man’s works are filthy rags (Isaiah 64:6) no matter how hard he tries before the harvest. You see “the harvest” marks the end of Mystery Babylon and the end of the rule of man whereupon the Glory of the Kingdom of Heaven will be ushered in, and the ways of man will come to an end. The resurrection of the dead will occur, and we will have a glorious reunion with those who have contended for the faith in the past and they will certainly not be left out of the blessings of the Kingdom of God.

Also, the Book of Life will be opened, tears of sorrow will be wiped away with tears of joy, and there will be much “wailing and gnashing of teeth” by those who rejected Christ and His Kingdom. A day of “reckoning” is coming. Under this New Covenant Age, God is using the tares so that a “remnant of Israel” whom the Scriptures refer to as “kings and priests” are being groomed and prepared to rule and reign with Christ in His coming perfected Kingdom of Light and Glory. It certainly will not be the imperfect Kingdom as it exists today. Among the tares, God’s “saints” will continue to learn and gain spiritual wisdom concerning the forces of good and evil in this short temporal life span. In the life to come, after the death of our fleshly bodies, the Holy Spirit will quicken lessons of this life and we will be given an anointing of Divine understanding and spiritual gifts we can’t even fathom in our existence today.

From Aristotle

Democracy is possible only within homogenous ethnic groups, while despots have always reigned over highly fragmented societies. A multi-ethnic society is thus necessarily anti-democratic and chaotic, for it lacks philia, this profound, flesh-and-blood fraternity of citizens. Tyrants and despots divide and rule, they want the City divided by ethnic rivalries. The indispensable condition for ensuring a people's sovereignty accordingly resides in its unity. Ethnic chaos prevents all philia from developing.

LIBERALS PLAN TO UPDATE OATH – Citizens will vow to honor Indigenous rights (May 29, 2019)

by Eresa Wright and Kristy Kirkup, Canadian Vancouver Sun

Ottawa – New Canadians will soon swear to honor the rights of Indigenous Peoples if a proposed legislative change is adopted. Immigration Minister Ahmed Hussen has introduced a bill that contains new language for the oath of citizenship that includes a pledge for new citizens to faithfully observe the laws of Canada, including the Constitution which "recognizes and affirms the Aboriginal and treaty rights of First Nations, Inuit and Metis peoples." Hussen says the proposal demonstrates the Liberal governments commitment to reconciliation with Indigenous Peoples... "...Sen. Murray Sinclair who chaired the commission, says he welcomes the government's legislation to change the oath, saying it reflects a more inclusive history of Canada."

Now this is Canada, but is America different than what this article boasts? Of course not! The lands of regathered Anglo-Israel are overflowing with alien paganism. Why? Because God's Covenant people's heart is far from YHWH.

Praise God that He has promised to turn Israel back to Him!

The Confusing Information on 5G technology

I, like you, having been hearing many warnings about 5G and also from those who say it is completely safe. Below are two articles. One is explaining what is being built and why it would be harmful and the other is a written transcript of a part of video where they say it is not harmful. My reason for sharing this with you is so that you pay attention to this. The 5G will be rolled out and I don't know about you, but I will be praying for God's protection each and every day from this and any harm it may cause.

In November of 2018, the United States Federal Communications Commission (FCC) authorised the rocket company SpaceX, owned by the entrepreneur Elon Musk, to launch a fleet of 7,518 satellites to complete SpaceX's ambitious scheme to provide global satellite broadband services to every corner of the Earth.

The satellites will operate at a height of approximately 210 miles, and irradiate the Earth with extremely high frequencies between 37.5 GHz and 42 GHz. This fleet will be in addition to a smaller SpaceX fleet of 4,425 satellites, already authorised earlier in the year by the FCC, which will orbit the Earth at a height of approximately 750 miles and is set to bathe us in frequencies between 12 GHz and 30 GHz. The grand total of SpaceX satellites is thus projected to reach just under 12,000.

There are at present approximately two thousand fully functioning satellites orbiting the Earth. Some beam down commercial GPS (or “SatNav”), some provide TV, some provide mobile phone services, and some bounce radar back and forth to produce images for meteorologists and military surveillance. The Earth is thus already comprehensively irradiated from outer space.

But the new SpaceX fleets will constitute a massive increase in the number of satellites in the skies above us, and a correspondingly massive increase in the radiation reaching the Earth from them. The SpaceX satellite fleet is, however, just one of several that are due to be launched in the next few years, all serving the same purpose of providing global broadband services. Other companies, including Boeing, One Web and Spire Global are each launching their own smaller fleets, bringing the total number of projected new broadband satellites to around 20,000 – every one of them dedicated to irradiating the Earth at similar frequencies (fig. 1). ¹

Why is there this sudden flurry of activity? The new satellite fleets are contributing to a concerted global effort to “upgrade” the electromagnetic environment of the Earth. The upgrade is commonly referred to as 5G, or fifth generation wireless network. It has become customary in tech circles to talk about the introduction of 5G as involving the creation of a new global “electronic ecosystem.” It amounts to geo-engineering on a scale never before attempted. While this is being sold to the public as an enhancement of the quality of video streaming for media and entertainment, what is really driving it is the creation of the conditions within which electronic or “artificial” intelligence will be able to assume an ever greater presence in our lives.

In a previous article for <https://newview.org.uk/> (“Radiation, Robot Bees and 5G”, New View, 85, Autumn 2017), I described how the introduction of 5G will require hundreds of thousands of new mini mobile phone masts (also referred to as “base stations”) in urban centres throughout the UK, and literally millions of new masts in cities throughout the rest of the world, all emitting radiation at frequencies and at power levels far higher than those to which we are presently subjected.

These new masts are much smaller than the masts we currently see beside our motorways and on top of buildings. They will be discreetly attached to the side of shops and offices or secured to lampposts. The 20,000 satellites are a necessary supplement to this land-based effort, for they will guarantee that rural areas, lakes, mountains, forests, oceans and wildernesses, where there are neither buildings nor lampposts, will all be incorporated into the new electronic infrastructure. Not one inch of the globe will be free of radiation.

Given the scale of the project, it is surprising how few people are aware of the enormity of what is now just beginning to unfold all around us. Very few people have even heard about the 20,000 new satellites that are due to transform the planet into a so-called “smart planet”, irradiating us night and day. In the national media, we do not hear voices questioning the wisdom, let alone the ethics, of geo-engineering a new global electromagnetic environment.

Instead, there is a blithe acceptance that technology must continue to progress, and the presence in our lives of increasingly “smart” machines and gadgets that each year become cleverer and more capable is an inevitable part of this progress. And who doesn’t want progress? Almost everyone loves their sleek and seductively designed phones, pads and virtual assistants, and regards them as an indispensable part of their lives.

But the question we should ask is whether we also want increasingly intense exposure of the natural environment and all living creatures, including ourselves, to more and more electromagnetic radiation. Is it likely that this does not entail any adverse health consequences, as both government and industry claim? If the electromagnetic waves that connect our smartphones to the Internet travel through brick, stone and cement, then what happens when these same waves encounter our bodies?

Be assured that they do not just bounce off us! They travel into the human body. The degree to which they are absorbed can be precisely measured in what is called the Specific Absorption Rate, expressed in Watts per kilogram of biological tissue. When we fill our houses with Wi Fi, we are irradiating our bodies continuously. When we hold a smartphone to our ear, electromagnetic waves irradiate our brains (fig.2). Do we really believe this could be completely harmless?

Waves and Frequencies

At present, mobile phones, smartphones, tablets, most Wi Fi and so on all operate at under 3 GHz in what is called the “microwave” region of the electromagnetic spectrum. If you could see and measure their wavelengths, you would find that they are many centimetres (or inches) long. A smartphone operating at 800 MHz, for example, sends and receives signals with wavelengths of 37.5 centimetres (just under 15 inches). Operating at 1.9 GHz, the wavelengths are 16 centimetres (just over 6 inches). Wi Fi uses the 2.4 GHz frequency band with 12 centimetre wavelengths (just under 5 inches long).

The introduction of 5G will entail the use of considerably higher frequencies than these, with correspondingly shorter wavelengths. Above 30GHz, wavelengths are just milli-metres rather than centimetres long. The millimetre waveband (from 30 GHz to 300 GHz) is referred to as Extremely High Frequency, and its wavelengths are between 10 millimetres and 1 millimetre in length.³ Up to the present time, Extremely High Frequency electromagnetic radiation has not been widely propagated, and its introduction marks a significant step change in the kind of electromagnetic energy that will become present in the natural environment (fig.3).

The reason why millimetre waves are to be used for 5G is that much larger bands of spectrum are available in the Extremely High Frequencies than at lower frequencies. This means that there can be much broader “bandwidth.” Broader bandwidth means that larger quantities of data can be transferred and the speed of transfer of the data will be significantly faster.

One of the effects of this is that it reduces what is called “latency”, or time-lag, in the system, so it improves the quality of video streaming. But in so doing, it also enables a greater seamlessness between the data accessible from virtual sources and our perceptions of objects in the real world, as is required, for example, in Augmented Reality applications. Greater seamlessness means that we more effortlessly inhabit the natural and the electronic worlds as if they were a single reality.

One of the technical problems of using frequencies in the millimetre region of the spectrum is that, because the waves carrying the data are so tiny, being only millimetres long, they are less able to pass through physical barriers, like walls and trees, than are the longer waves of lower frequencies. This is why it is necessary to have so many more new phone masts or “base stations.” They will need to be spaced at 100 metres apart in cities because beyond this distance their signals weaken and are therefore less able to penetrate buildings, and connect with the devices inside. As well as being more closely spaced, the 5G base stations will operate at much higher power than current phone masts, in order to ensure that the signals are sufficiently strong.

Because the wavelengths are so much smaller, the antennas transmitting and receiving them will also be much smaller than those of current phone masts and electronic devices. A single

FIGURE 4: Qualcomm's millimetre wave antenna array module for a 5G smartphone. It has four antennas that can accurately point towards the nearest 5G base station. Phones will have four of these modules, i.e. sixteen antennas. (4)

5G transmitter/receiver will have a large number of tiny antennas, grouped together in one unit. An array of just over a thousand such antennas measures only four square inches, so will easily fit into a small base station on a lamppost, while the smartphone in your pocket will probably have sixteen (fig.4).

Both 5G satellites and 5G land-based masts will use a system called the “phased array.” In the phased array, groups of antennas are co-ordinated to radiate pulses in a specific direction and in a specified time sequence. This allows a concentrated beam of radio waves to be exactly aimed at designated targets, to enable signals to be sent or received. Because the beams are concentrated in this way, this adds to their power, which means they are able more easily to penetrate buildings. But it also means that any living creature that gets in the way of such a concentrated beam will be subjected to a powerful dose of extremely high frequency radiant electricity. A study published earlier this year demonstrated that certain insects, because of their small body-size, are particularly vulnerable to the millimetre waves of the higher frequencies to be utilised by 5G (fig. 5).⁵ Other studies have shown that bacteria and plants are also vulnerable, and so also (as one might expect) are the skin and the eyes of animals including, of course, human beings.⁶

As well as its ability to concentrate power in focused beams, phased array technology has a further complicating factor. Either side of the main beam, the time intervals between the pulses are different from those of the main beam, but they may overlap each other in such a way as to produce extremely rapid changes in the electromagnetic field. This can have a particularly detrimental effect on living organisms, because instead of the radiation decaying when it is absorbed into living tissue, it can be re-radiated within the body.

The moving charges streaming into the body effectively become antennas that re-radiate the electromagnetic field and send it deeper into the organism. These re-radiated waves are known as Brillouin precursors, named after the French physicist Leon Brillouin, who first described them in 1914. Research suggests that they can have a significant and highly detrimental impact on living cells.⁸

The Un-reassuring Assurances of Government and Industry

The Government body charged with protecting public health, Public Health England, advises us that there is no convincing evidence that Radio Frequency radiation (which radio, television, mobile phones, smartphones and 5G all use) has any adverse health effects on either adults or children.

This advice is based on the recommendations of a supposedly independent body called AGNIR (Advisory Group on Non-Ionising Radiation), which produced a report in 2012 on the safety of Radio Frequency radiation. The report stated that there was a lack of “convincing” and “conclusive” evidence for any adverse health effects.⁹ It was like giving a blank cheque to the telecommunications industry to move on into the higher frequencies, without any heed for the consequences.

It turns out that far from being independent, AGNIR has a high proportion of members with blatant conflicts of interests, and their report distorted or simply left out of account evidence that should have compelled them to reach the opposite conclusion to the one they arrived at. In a forensic analysis of the report, the environmental health researcher, Sarah Starkey, makes it clear that only a wilful disregard of the available scientific evidence could explain its internal contradictions and apparent incompetence.¹⁰

And yet it is the basis of current UK Government policy, allowing government to roll out 5G without so much as even a nod towards the need for prior health and safety assessment.¹¹ Health and safety simply do not feature in Government thinking, despite a veritable mountain of literally thousands of research papers demonstrating adverse health effects, which continues to grow at the rate of roughly 350 per year, on average practically one every day.¹²

One of the reasons for ignoring this evidence in the hell-for-leather dash to create the 5G electronic ecosystem is the conviction in government circles that, unless we introduce it immediately, we will be “left behind” and our economic growth and competitiveness will be put at risk. There is simply no time to consider the possible health consequences.

The National Infrastructure Commission, whose 2016 report, Connected Future, forms the basis of current Government policy, pushed this panicky vision of the UK falling behind other nations and urged the government to ensure that the new digital infrastructure is fully in place by 2025.¹³ The NIC report repeatedly points out that the rewards of the “connected future” are to be measured in billions of pounds worth of revenue. The mind-boggling amounts involved are well exemplified in a recent estimate that the global media industry alone stands to gain $1.3 trillion from 5G by 2025, not least because 5G will “unlock the potential of augmented reality (AR) and virtual reality (VR).”¹⁴ The irony that the “connected” future is one in which dizzying profits stand to be made from technologies that disconnect us more and more from the real world is entirely missed.

The sums involved are sufficient to explain why the telecoms industry has for the last twenty-five years done its utmost to ensure that research into the health effects of wireless technologies produce negative or inconclusive results. Since 1993, the industry has financed a large number of studies, saving governments a great deal of expense and at the same time preserving the convenient illusion that the jury is still out on whether exposure to Radio Frequency radiation causes harm.

Earlier this year, The Guardian published an article citing research which showed that while 67% of independently funded studies found a biological effect of exposure to Radio Frequency radiation, only 28% of industry-funded studies did. Industry-funded studies are almost two and a half times less likely than independent studies to find health effects.¹⁵ The authors of The Guardian article explain that the telecoms industry doesn't need to win the scientific argument about safety, but simply keep the argument running indefinitely by producing studies with results that fail to verify, or even better contradict, the research that does find adverse health effects.

One of the most notorious is the mammoth, industry-funded "Interphone Study", which managed to conclude that holding a mobile phone to the head actually protects the user from brain tumours! This study, which is full of contradictions and suffers from grievous design flaws, is often quoted as the most authoritative to date, while it has in fact been thoroughly discredited.¹⁶

Nevertheless, the impression is maintained that there is no scientific consensus, and so there are not sufficient grounds for action to be taken. Needless to say, this suits Government just as much as it suits industry.

Beyond the health effects there is another level altogether of what the roll out of 5G actually entails. Read more at: <https://takebackyourpower.net/5g-the-big-picture/>

Is 5G Safe? By CNBC published May 27, 2019

“At the levels that are used, for example, on wireless communications or that are used for transmitting AM and FM radio or 5G technology, the amount of RF energy that is being transmitted is very, very low and would need to be thousands of times greater to even be felt by the human body as a heat source, much less cause any particular harm to the body.” But there is a certain point at which radiation has enough energy to do more than that and actually make changes to the atoms of your body. If it reaches that point, it becomes ionizing, which means that it has enough energy to knock electrons out of atoms and do things like give you cancer and damage your DNA.

This process is also the reason radiation therapy can be used to treat cancer by beaming ionizing radiation at cancer cells and damaging their DNA. This is the kind of radiation you probably think of when you hear the word. “If I, for example took in enough energy to raise the temperature of a cup of coffee by one degree, but I took that in the form of ionizing radiation, I would be dead within probably a half an hour from a very horrible acute radiation syndrome. But if I took in that same amount of energy in the terms of radio frequency, my body would be easily dispel or easily normalize that additional heat but it wouldn’t produce any permanent damage. It would just be in the form of thermal energy which my body can easily adapt to.”

“So, there is a point at which radiation switches from being non-ionizing to ionizing and the question is, how close are we getting to that when we move up to those 5G frequencies? The answer, it turns out, is not very close at all.” 5G is 70 GHz and ionizing is 2.4 million GHz. “If it’s true [that 4G and 5G are damaging] where are all the brain cancers? Where are all the gliomas? You know you look at study after study of cancer rates and you look at the incidence of brain cancers since the induction of wireless technology and cellphones and you don’t see any significant change in the incidents.” Quotes are from Jerrald Bushburg, Clinical Professor of Radiology and Radiation Oncology at UC Davis.

Understanding that Jesus is God

Some Objections Answered

By Martha Barley

Those who teach that Jesus and Yahweh are two separate and distinct entities, usually ask critics of that doctrine to answer some questions.

1. If Yahweh eternal and infinite (endless and limitless)? If so, how could he die?
2. If Yahweh died, who ran the universe while He was dead?
3. If He died, who raised Him from the grave?
4. If He raised Himself, could He have been truly dead?

The premise of these questions are based on a wrong understanding of who God is. Dr. Kent Hovind, a Christian evangelist and young earth creationist, was in a debate with an atheist who asked the question, “Where did God come from?” His answer was just brilliant, and I am quoting it here because it applies to this situation as well.

“Your question, ‘Where did God come from?’ displays that you’re thinking of the wrong God. Because the God of the Bible is not affected by time, space, or matter. If he’s affected by time, space, or matter. He’s not God.

Time, space, and matter is what we call a continuum. All of them have to come into existence at the same instant, because if there were a matter but no space where would you put it? If there were matter and space but no time, when would you put it? You cannot have time, space, or matter independently they have to come into existence simultaneously.

The Bible answers that in ten words, in the beginning, there’s time, God created the heaven, there is space and the earth, there’s matter.

So, you have time, space, matter creating a trinity of trinities. Time is past, present, future. Space has length, width, height, and matter has solid, liquid, gas. You have a trinity of trinities created instantaneously and the God who created them has to be outside of them. If he's limited by time, he's not God.

The God who created this universe is outside of the universe. He's above it, beyond it, in it, through it. He's unaffected by it.

So, your question, 'Where did God come from?' is assuming a limited God. And that's your problem the God that I worship is not limited by time, space, or matter. If I could fit the infinite God in my three-pound brain, He would not be worth worshiping that's for certain. So that's the God that I worship. Thank you."

The questions at the beginning of this article also assume a limited God. They ignore the principles delineated above and try to impose limits on what God can be or do. They also ignore the fact that God created Life and God created Death and therefore, He is the master of both. When we die, our spirit goes back to God in an unconscious state, but we do not cease to exist. Our spirit is in His loving Care.

Ecclesiastes 12:7

Then shall the dust return to the earth as it was: and the spirit shall return unto God who gave it.

Ecclesiastes 9:5

For the living know that they shall die: but the dead know not any thing....

So, God dwelt in Jesus, yet was outside of the universe, above it, beyond it, in it, through it and is unaffected by it. Jesus died just as we do, and His Spirit went back to God who gave it and thus fulfilled the Law by doing so. He could die and run the universe and raise Himself from the grave and yes, have truly died. We know this because He told us.

John 2:19

Jesus answered and said unto them, Destroy this temple [meaning His body], and in three days I will raise it up.

Notice He did not say that the Father would raise Him up. He clarifies this further in John 10:17.

Therefore doth my Father love me, because I lay down my life, that I might take it again.

Again, He says that He will take it again, not that the Father will give it to Him again. So, Jesus had a dual nature. As man, all the verses about being a son apply and He experienced everything as we do and as God He did things we cannot do.

Hebrews 4:15

For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin.

He is our example on how to be an obedient son of God. As the Son, He only did what the Father wanted Him to do and He felt every emotion and fear that we do. This is why He said on the cross, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me? Matthew 27:46 and Mark 15:34. It is why He prayed, fasted, and gave all honor to His Father.

Jesus is the firstborn among many brethren. Romans 8:29. The following objections again try to limit God to the limits of man and fail to see that God can be many things at the exact same time. He obviously can do what man cannot.

5. Q: Who is the God of Jesus in Hebrews 1:9 and in the prophecy of Micah 5:4? A: The Son gives worship to God as our example. It is also why He prays to God. He is patterning the behavior we need to emulate.
6. Q: When Jesus called Himself the Son, did He really mean the Father? A: No, He meant exactly what He said. He was operating as the Son, but that doesn't mean that He isn't the Father at the same time. One does not exclude the other because this is God we are talking about!!!!

7. Q: How can a father beget a child who is actually Himself? Can a son be his own father? A: Obviously, mortals can't, but God is totally beyond our most vivid imagination.
8. Q: Was Jesus “the mediator between God and man?” 1 Timothy 2:5. Did Jesus pray to Himself? How could Jesus “inherit” or “receive” anything if He was already Creator and Possessor of Heaven and Earth? A: Yes, Jesus was our mediator because He is our High Priest and one of His many jobs is to be that example of a priest to show us how to be Priests and Kings of the Most High God. His Sonship is always about showing us what it means to be a son of God. He is showing us what we are to do. As sons, Jesus and Israel will inherit and receive what God has for us.
9. Q: If the death of a god was needed to save Israel [a perfect sacrifice was needed not a god], and if He became mortal before He died, then wasn't it just a mortal man and not a god who died? A: God had to die to be able to remarry Israel not to save her. Because Christ was a sinless sacrifice He saved us; not because he was God. See how convoluted these questions become simply because the questioner cannot fathom God being outside the limits set for man. Personally, I am astonished that this is such a hard concept for many.

God takes care of the billions of people, animals, stars, planets, etc. and we think it is hard for Him to be both man and God at the same time?

Isaiah 42:8 I am the Lord: that is my name: and my glory will I not give to another, neither my praise to graven images.

Isaiah 48:11 For mine own sake, even for mine own sake, will I do it: for how should my name be polluted? and I will not give my glory unto another.

As God, He did the things that only God can do and as the above verses show, He does not share His Glory. Jesus did the following in His capacity as God.

1. Forgave sin. Matthew 9:2; Matthew 9:6; Mark 2:5; Mark 2:10; Luke 5:20; Luke 5:24; Luke 7:47-48. The Pharisees recognized that this was only a function of God in Mark 2:7 when they said, “Why doth this man thus speak blasphemies? who can forgive sins but God only?”
2. Accepted worship and was called God. Matthew 2:11; 8:2; 9:18; 14:33; 15:25; 20:20; 28:9; Mark 5:6; Luke 24:52; John 20:18
3. Spoke His name, I AM (The word “he” in both verses is added by the translators) causing His enemies to fall backwards. John 18:5-6
4. Existed before Abraham. John 8:58
5. Was the Alpha and Omega. Revelation 1:8, 11; 21:6; 22:18
6. Was the root and offspring of David. Revelation 22:16.
7. Laid down His life for us and raised Himself back up again. John 2:19; 10:17
8. Created all things. John 1:3; Hebrew 1:2;

This is just a partial list as the list could literally go on for pages.

Some people who believe that the Father and Jesus are separate quote Malachi 3:6, “I am Yahweh, I change not” to say that Yahweh becoming flesh would violate that principle. However, they are not understanding that verse. Let’s look at it in context. Malachi 3:1-6

² But who may abide the day of his coming? and who shall stand when he appeareth? for he is like a refiner's fire, and like fullers' soap:

³ And he shall sit as a refiner and purifier of silver: and he shall purify the sons of Levi, and purge them as gold and silver, that they may offer unto the LORD an offering in righteousness.

⁵ And I will come near to you to judgment; and I will be a swift witness against the sorcerers, and against the adulterers, and against false swearers, and against those that oppress the hireling in his wages, the widow, and the fatherless, and that turn aside the stranger from his right, and fear not me, saith the LORD of hosts.

⁶ For I am the LORD, I change not; therefore ye sons of Jacob are not consumed.

This passage is not talking about the form of God, but of the substance of who God is and how He keeps His promises to Israel. If He didn't, we would have perished long ago.

God has taken many forms throughout the Bible. He was the voice that spoke to Adam, the burning bush and voice that spoke to Moses, the cloud by day and the pillar by night as the children of Israel wandered in the wilderness, the angel that fought with Jacob, the ass that spoke to Balaam, etc.

Matthew 28:19 Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: Notice this does not say "names."

Deuteronomy 6:4

Hear, O Israel: The LORD our God is one LORD:

Exodus 15:2

The Lord [Yah #3050] is my strength and song, and he is become my salvation [Yeshua #3444]:
